Last Week's Run Report

Run 692 – Nosh Nite Orient Hotel Fremantle

Hare: Rowdy

Hash on the Orient Express !

We had a decent turn out on a slightly cloudy, coolish evening ... from all accounts not as big a pack as on past weeks but ... hey still good !

The Hare, Rowdy, did a splendid job of giving some instructions that were completely miss-understood by some however, off we hurtled into the Freo night. The chalk trail was interesting (more on that later ...) and as far as walkers were concerned, relatively easy to follow (or so we thought !) On a few occasions, the Hare was seen directing traffic in the middle of the road (oh I mean Hashers ...)

We seemed to manage just avoiding a collision with a train, thank goodness, and so we snaked around the harbour and over railway crossings. At one point, the walkers found they were about to enter the Maritime Museum but it was shut ! Clever Rowdy... kept us on our toes...

Back at the start, we returned just before the runners who came from just about everywhere, especially the poor RA who voiced displeasure as to no calling when she was, err ... not lost exactly, more displaced.

In the circle, the points awarded were reasonable but more to the point the charges were significant forWAIT FOR IT ... S K I N N Y chalk !!! I think that was a first so well done Rowdy !

Another noteworthy moment (did I miss something ???) was seeing Gaylord on bended knee prostrating himself to the RA ! What the? Marriage proposal ? Or just another woman ...? (You had to be there ...!)

Ahs Up gave a moving TRUE story about an incident involving his uncle,... there were a few jokers and on the said same great night we all raced off to the Orient for a pub grub dinner ! Yum !

Till next time

On - On

PS. Thanks to all the great reports in my absence ... I was keeping track though ! ☐
